Patagial Wing Tags

Adapted Systems for the Tagging of Wildlife

Our wing patagial tags are made of PVC fabric of high resistance, so they have an estimated minimum duration of six years, and include the same alphanumeric combinations of the corresponding PVC rings issued by the Biological Station of Doñana. Also on the reverse the project contact information is included (phone, email, etc..) in order to receive information in the case of capture or death of the animal.

Màquia offers tested models, carefully developed according to the requirements of the different species. Our wing patagial tags offer a durable system for the identification of species.

If you have any questions please contact us , as Màquia does not only offers you advice, but it also puts you in touch with those customers with whom you can share experiences and ask your doubts.
